Anna - Impulses for the city

The location recommends itself due to its immediate vicinity to the town, while at the same time offering outstanding national transport links. In particular, commercial & service enterprises oriented to the general public will find an ideal place here for a representative site at a quiet and attractive location. After the first step towards structural change was taken with the closure of the Anna mine in 1992, today these premises offer the opportunity to discover Alsdorf as a modern medium-sized town with a bright future.
